SAT Intensive Workshop - Day 29

Tomas Matzner

18 July 2019

1 Today's Events

- Vocabulary quiz and quizlet live.
- Reading historical passages practice.
- Reading section 1 practice exam - did as group.
- Lunch.
- Math section 3 practice exam.
- Writing section 2 practice exam.
- Practice essay.
- Review of SAT Exam from 17 July.

1.1 Review of Reading section 1 from 17 July

1.1.1 New words

- vex (v) - to annoy.
- indulgent (adj) - lenient.
- caress (v) - to touch someone in a tender or loving way.
- nominal (adj) - existing in name only.
- alloy (v) - to spoil something.
- solitude (n) - the state of being alone.
- amiable (adj) - friendly.
- inherent (adj) - existing as a natural part.
- usher (v) - to guide in a certain direction.
- tranquilize (v) - to make calm, peaceful, or quiet.
- deplorable (adj) - deeply regrettable; unfortunate.
- squalor (n) - filth; misery.
- salutary (adj) - beneficial.
- homogeneity (n) - the quality of being similar.
- rampant (adj) - unrestrained.
- flamboyant (adj) - excessively showy and unrestrained.
- resuscitate (v) - to revive.

2   Homework

2.1   Vocabulary

Know the words in the "New words" section, along with their definitions and how to use them in a sentence. Do the same for the following words from the Abraham Lincoln speech:

- amicable (adj) - friendly.
- irrevocable (adj) - irreversible.
- magistrate (n) - judge.
- prevail (v) - to triumph over.
- precipitate (v) - characterized by excessive haste.

2.2   Latin Roots

Know the following Latin or Greek roots, their meanings, and at least two examples of words that use said root:

- ampl-: From the Latin amplus, means abundant or bountiful. Examples: ample, amplification.
- a-, an-, ana-: From the Greek an ($\alpha\nu$) or ana ($\alpha\nu\alpha$), means not, without, or against. Examples: anhydrous, atypical, anabaptist, anaphylaxis, anion, anode.
- andr-: From the Greek andros ($\alpha\delta\rho\sigma\gamma$), means male or masculine. Examples: androgen, android.
- anem-: From the Greek anemos ($\alpha\nu\varepsilon\mu\sigma\gamma$), means wind. Examples: anemometer.
- anim-: From the Latin anima, means breath or life. Examples: animal, animation, anime.